I want to thank each and everyone of you who were involved with the end of life care of my friend and companion Maggie.

In march 2003, Maggie was rescued in the hope that she would be a therapeutic companion for my wife, who was battling cancer. Maggie proved to be as sweet and loving and sensitive a dog as I could have hoped for, a consolation for my wife while she lived, and for me for these last six and a half years.

Your compassion, your understanding, your kindness and your gentle treatment made this sad and confusing passage as easy for Maggie and me as I think possible. I feel lucky and grateful to have found you.

Thank You,

Frank Weikman

Your thoughtfulness meant so much.
